Interstate Promotes Several Staff Members To Further Increase Service Levels

Changes will provide unprecedented levels of service

Monday, June 05, 2006

Saint Petersburg, FL: Interstate Transport, Inc., the leading freight management and logistics company, today announced several changes to its staff to meet the changing demands of the industry.

Sean Storr was promoted to Director of Sales. In his new role, he will be responsible for continuing the explosive growth of both logistics and live goods freight. His focus will be on developing backhaul lanes to help re-position trucks to serve Interstate's fast growing live goods business. Sean will be responsible for all new business relationships and expanding our product and service offerings, such as the free InMotion Global[®] transportation management system and our dedicated Freight Management Center (FMC) offering.

Randy Miller was promoted to Manager of Carrier and Customer sales. His group will have the sole responsibility of tendering loads to available drivers and working with existing customers to increase service offerings to them. This group will work with the existing customer base to providing increased capacity when (and where) needed.

Karen Rodriguez was promoted to Manager of Dispatch Operations. In this newly created role, her group will be responsible for every aspect of load work-flow, including all necessary paperwork, and the tracking and tracing of each load. This new function will ensure the latest load tracking details available to customers via Interstate website.

Tim Higham, president and CEO of Interstate, said, "These individuals have proven their skill and expertise in several areas of the company. By making these changes, Interstate is showing the marketplace that our pledge of 'customer first' is something we truly mean".
