Monday, June 19, 2006

Saint Petersburg, FL: Interstate Transport, Inc., the leading freight management and logistics company, today announced that the City of Saint Petersburg has nominated Interstate Transport for The Governor’s Entrepreneurship Award for 2006.

This highly regarded award is a statewide program that recognizes Florida companies in emerging and high-technology industries for their contributions to Florida’s economic growth. The Governor’s Entrepreneurship Award is presented to a Florida company that is less than five years old, and that “sets the standard for entrepreneurship and creativity”. As a leading innovator in the world of logistics and transportation, Interstate meets all of the requirements necessary, especially in light of their innovative use of the latest technology.

Tim Higham, president and CEO of Interstate, said; “We are extremely honored that Jeb Bush and his staff would consider Interstate as such a leader in our field of expertise, and to be recognized as an economic stimulator in Florida. This recognition is especially poignant as we were recently in the top 3 companies nominated as Business Of The Year in Saint Petersburg.”

The winner receives an exclusive luncheon with Governor Jeb Bush at the Governor’s Mansion in Tallahassee, recognition in Florida Trend Magazine, and other promotional considerations by the State of Florida. Winners will be announced in September 2006.
